

*The primary helminth of concern is Strongyloides stercoralis, which is endemic in regions of the rural south eastern United States (eg, Appalachia).